

New MPS a welcoming place for everyone

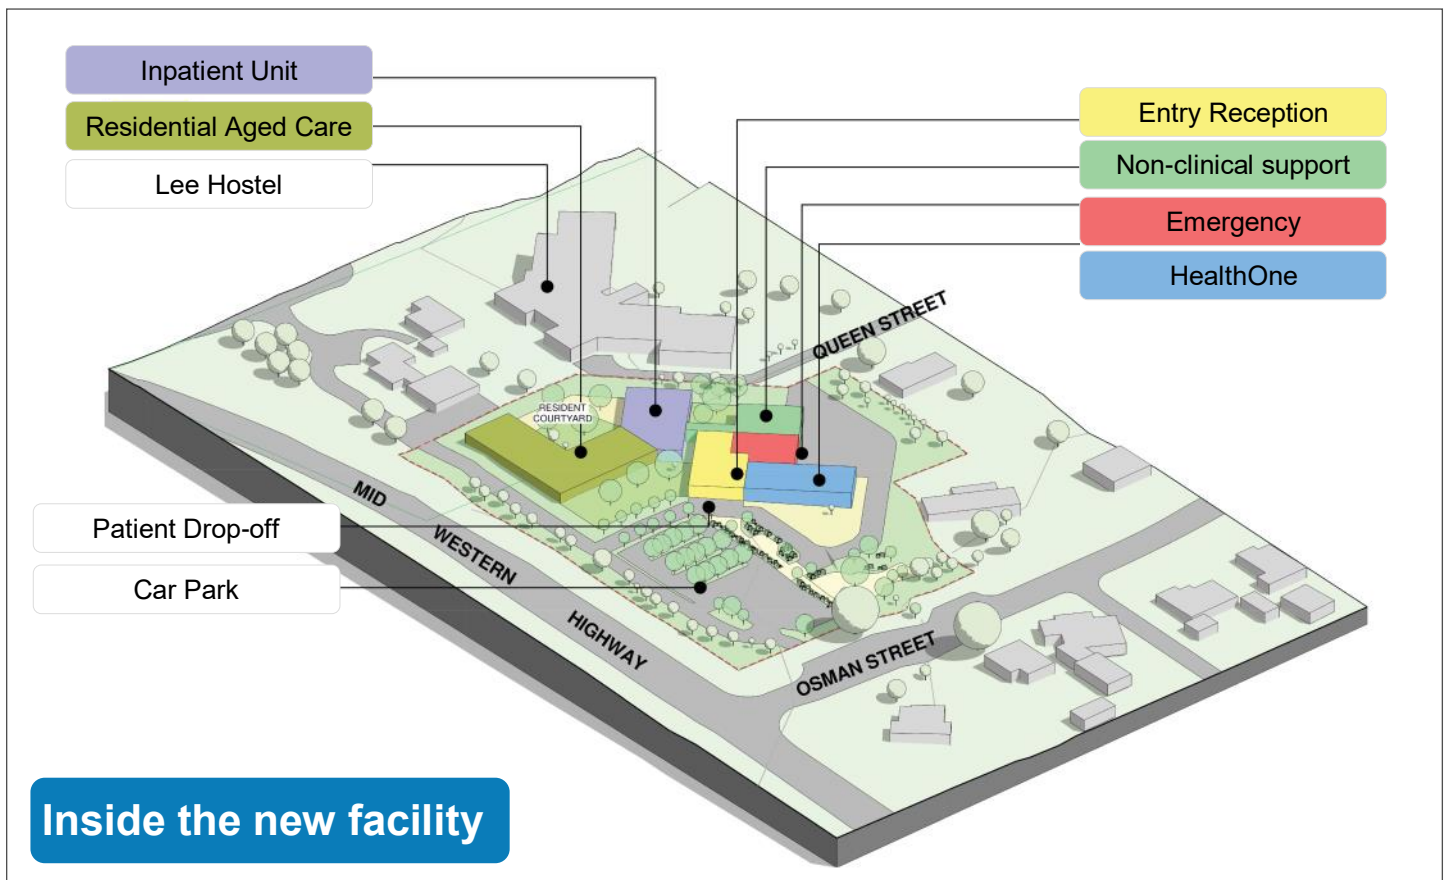

The Blayney Multipurpose Service (MPS) is undergoing a major redevelopment as part of the NSW Government's $297 million Multipurpose Service Program to deliver health facilities across smaller rural and remote communities.

The new master plan shows the proposed zones for inpatient and other treatment areas, emergency, and enhanced residential aged care, as well as space for future expansion.

The project team will now work with staff, patients, carers and community to develop the detailed plans.

Construction is expected to start in 2023 and be completed in 2025.

The project will bring high quality health and aged care services closer to home, in a modern facility which can continue to meet local health care needs for years to come.

About our new MPS

Welcoming, modern and designed for the people who use it, the new Blayney MPS will provide a range of services in purpose-built facilities which can support the latest advances in health care delivery.

The new features include:

- All single rooms in the residential aged care wing, offering improved amenity for patients and carers
- A single 'front door' to replace the three existing entries, making it easy to find your way
- More space for inpatients and more treatment chairs to allow us to cater for our growing health needs
- Expanded HealthOne
- Generous courtyards and landscaping to bring nature inside
- New parking area.

The project will include extensive consultation with staff, patients, carers and community, and a vibrant arts in health program.

The new MPS facility will be located on the existing Osman Street site. The decision was made following a comprehensive review by Health Infrastructure and the Western NSW Local Health District.

The existing location's close proximity to other medical and aged care services currently located on the site, including the HealthOne, was an important factor in determining the preferred site.

As the facility is being built on the existing site, construction will be carefully managed to ensure there is as little disruption to services as possible.

When construction gets underway, detailed information will be available on our website to ensure you are always up to date which changes that might affect you.
